Is one of a kind with heavy filling, large thick skin, pear shape fig, growing at sea level and coast. Breba is green with amber center, main crop is green/brown with amber center. (Cefalu, Sicily).
100. Perkounis-Large purple/black, red center from island of Mykonos. Grows well in hot climates. Originally a Class II San Pedro Type, producing large brebas only. Main crop was only females so none of the figs would develop. After experimenting with growth stimulant sprays containing a hormone to inducing specialty flower to become large for exhibition, Belleclare sprayed this into the eye of the female fig at halfway point of 28 day cycle and seven days later. As a result, a main crop was produced because the spray mimicked the male hormones. This occurred several years in a row and then Belleclare stopped for three years in a row and during that time, the tree adapted and produces self-fertile main crops. The hormone spray came from edible Landscaping, Afton, Virginia.
